Surcharge

In order to offset increased flight and vessel costs, there will be a surcharge for each participating contractor and their guest. This surcharge is in addition to the 200 points (or “buy up”) that is necessary to qualify. Surcharge amount, due date and terms of payment will be confirmed no later than Feb. 28, 2026.

Promotion Reward

Contractors who meet or purchase the required point totals are eligible to join Weil-McLain on a one-week, European cruise in June 2026. The vessel type/name, number of available cabins/accommodation limits, any ports of call/docking, exact excursion dates and on-board accommodations will be confirmed on or before Feb. 28, 2026.

If the final number of qualifying contractors and their guests exceeds the accommodations available on the selected vessel, the Sponsor reserves the right to limit the number of participating contractors by selecting on a first-come, first-served basis: those who qualified “first”, according to the date assigned to their final qualifying purchase entered through the official form at waverider6.ca, will receive the first right of refusal.

The number of accommodations and the value of the reward will be confirmed on or before Feb. 28, 2026. Qualifying contractors who cannot be accommodated due to cabin/spacing restrictions will be notified no later than Feb 28, 2026. The Sponsor is not responsible for any direct or indirect costs that may incurred by contractors who qualify but cannot be accommodated on the cruise due to accommodation/cabin restrictions.

Qualification for the promotion includes accommodations, airfare from the Canadian airport nearest the contractors’ home to the vessel’s port of departure, to be confirmed on or before Feb. 28, 2026, as well as transfers and all meals that are provided on-board the vessel. All other expenses are the responsibility of the contractor. Both the contractor and his/her companion must depart from the same airport. Promotion Sponsor will arrange for travel between the airport and the ship.

Costs of everything not stated as included in the Promotion Reward in the foregoing paragraph are the responsibility of the contractor, and without limiting the generality of this statement the following costs are the responsibility of the winner: transportation from the contractor’s residence to the airport nearest the contractor’s residence, meals not provided on-board the vessel, all taxes (including departure and airport taxes), gratuities, health insurance, items of a personal nature and service charges.

The following general conditions apply to the Promotion Reward:

1. The approximate value of the reward, including all components defined in Promotion Reward, is fixed at no less than $15,000 and no more than $20,000 CDN.
2. The Reward is for participation as Weil-McLain's guest during the week-long nautical excursion and the contractor (and guest) must travel and participate on the dates designated by Sponsor, and in the event that the contractor is not able to take this trip on those exact dates, and/or does not return any releases to be received by the promotion promoter by May 1, 2026, that person will forfeit the reward in its entirety and no other reward will be awarded to that person in its place. Any portion of the Reward not used by the contractor will be forfeited without substitution.
3. The Sponsor and/or their representatives reserve the right at any time to:

1. Place reasonable restrictions on the availability or use of the Reward or any aspect of the Reward. This includes the inability to transfer the Reward to another individual within or outside the Contractor's business or operation.
2. Substitute the Reward or any aspect of the Reward for any reason so long as a reward or aspect of the reward of comparable value is substituted.
4. By accepting the Reward, the winner agrees to waive all recourse against the Sponsor, and those associated with them, if any part of the Reward or any services that form part of the Reward does not prove satisfactory, either in whole or in part.
5. Contractor (and guest) must have valid passports (with the term "valid" being defined as what is valid under Canadian, United States and foreign laws) at the time of departure from Canada up to and including the time of return to Canada and in the event for any reason the contractor does not have a valid passport at the time of departure neither the contractor (nor guest) may travel and the reward will be forfeited in its entirety and nothing will be substituted in its place, but if at the time of departure the contractor does have a valid passport, but the guest does not have a valid passport the contractor may travel though the contractor may not substitute a new traveling companion.
6. Weil-McLain Canada reserves the right to withhold all or any portion of the Reward gained through unauthorized or unlawful use of the promotion website or any other promotional materials.

By entering the promotion, the contractor agrees to the promotion rules and to the use without compensation of their photograph, filmed or recorded image, name and city of residence in all publicity campaigns related to the promotion including on Sponsor's website.
